

Mr. Osama Khurshid

Doctoral Student
Aalto University
Finland

Osama Khurshid holds a M.Sc degree in space science and technology with major in space systems engineering from Aalto University. He has been working in the Aalto satellite projects on various subsystems, especially the attitude determination and control system development. His specific research interests are related to attitude estimation and control of space vehicles, electronic hardware and real time software design and development for space applications.